Burning Questions that Must be Answered
WHAT IS THE FUTURE FOR YOUTH?
WHAT IS THE FUTURE OF PASTORALISM?
WHAT IS THE FUTURE OF THE STATE?
BEYOND “TOMORROW’S SOLUTIONS TO TODAY’S CHALLENGES”

Towards a Peace Architecture in the Sahel
YOUNG PEOPLE ARE NOT A PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED
SECURITY IS NOT THE SPECIAL PRESERVE OF THE STATE
By “peace architecture” we mean a series of mutually-reinforcing relationships ranging from the state government on to the community level and down to the attitudes of individual citizens.

- Bottom-Up and Top-Down. Working at the community level in flashpoint areas to reduce violence and consolidate peace, while also working with government and civil society at the state level to build mechanisms to resolve conflict in the future.

- Key People, More People. To support local leaders, we use media and communications programming to encourage and environment of peace and empower local leaders by highlighting progress and address obstacles such as rumours and manipulation.

- Participation and Ownership. We work with community stakeholders to identify and define the outcomes sought through the dispute resolution process, encouraging ownership.

- Learning and Sharing. Success in these areas holds the potential to be an example throughout Nigeria. A robust communications strategy aimed at sharing positive experiences with the broader Nigerian and international public.
