REPORT ON JOSIAH ELLIS DuBOIS OF "NABOB'S" ESTABLISHMENT, INTIMATE FRIEND OF "RUBL'" (1945)

From: WASHINGTON

To: MOSCOW

No: 1759

28 March 1945

At the very beginning of April [there will be][i] sent from here to MOSCOW an American delegation, headed by Isador LUBIN [IZIDOR LYUBIN][ii], to take part in the work of the Reparations Commission. From "NABOB'S"[iii] establishment [2 groups unrecovered], in the capacity of a member, a young lawyer, an American of French extraction, Josiah Ellis DuBOIS[iv], born 21 October 1910, in the town of CAMDEN, NEW JERSEY, married, graduated from PENNSYLVANIA University Law School, working now [1 group unrecovered] of "NABOB" ([3 groups unrecovered] senior consultant). DuBOIS is an intimate friend of "RUBL"[v] and we recently work(s) with "NABOB". "RUBL'" maintains the most friendly relations with him and asserts that DuBOIS [2 groups unrecovered] to us and by his views is a FELLOWCOUNTRYMAN[ZEMLYaK][vi]. He has never been a member of any FELLOWCOUNTRYMAN[ZEMLYaChESKIE][vi] organisations whatsoever. At one time, soon after arrival in [6 groups unrecovered] used to express his leftist views, but later under the influence of R.[v] he became more discreet. "NABOB" had talks with him about his trip to MOSCOW on 22 and 23 March and on 24 March the "BANK"[vii] had already enquired of us [about][i] a visa for him. In His majesty and the Government of the U.S.A., acting jointly or separately, - a document, a draft of which was sent in my telegram No.698. If the Soviet Government has not yet reached some final decision in regard to the work of the Polish Commission (and I think they have not) there is some advantage in a written [7 groups unrecovered] meetings of the Commission [2 groups unrecovered] provide at least its full and careful consideration. I do not think that MOLOTOV, despite his stubbornness, has said his last word. 1. The U.S. Ambassador showed me [1 group unrecovered] of 7 March, containing his recommendations to the State Department about the Polish Commission.

2. As a first step, Mr. HARRIMAN recommended one of the following two courses:

a) He and I, on instructions, should insist on the Commission accepting the principle that each of its members should have the right to name a reasonable number of individuals for consultation. This list at first should be small, but later, after preliminary consultation, it could be expanded.

b) [25 groups unrecoverable].

In return for this, we will allow MOLOTOV to invite one from each area and again reserving the right to expand the first list later, after preliminary consultations. Mr. HARRIMAN wants to insist on inviting M. MIKOLAJCZCK and M. GRABSKI from LONDON, Professor KUTRZEBA and one of the strongest among our other candidates from POLAND. He agrees that MIKOLAJCZCK is the most important figure. Mr. HARRIMAN, however, considers that a certain amount of pressure should be brought to bear upon MIKOLAJCZCK so that within the next 48 hours he will issue a statement accepting without reservation the CRIMEA decision, even though not necessarily approving of it.

3. Mr. HARRIMAN suggests that possibly both of the above courses should be tried. In the event of their failure,

1. These telegrams arrived simultaneously with the President's message to the Prime Minister (No.718). The message shows that the President is still not lined to support us in putting to the Russians all those questions, on which we consider it important to reach an agreement with them at this stage. From the Prime Minister's answer, transmitted in telegram No.912, you can see that he is urging the President to reconsider his position in the light of the proposals now submitted by Sir A. Clark KERR, after consultation with Mr. HARRIMAN.

2. As soon as possible please see Mr. STETTINIUS and after that, if you can, the President and show them [2 groups unrecovered] to MOLOTOV, suggested by Sir A. Use all arguments at your disposal to induce them to make a concerted effort with us on the basis of this draft. We are convinced that only on such a basis will it be possible to establish a foundation for the Commission's work. We believe that if we and the Americans together take a firm position, the Russians very likely will give way on some of the points.

1. The rapid deterioration of the situation in ROUMANIA has already led us to support the demands of the U.S. Government concerning the invocation of the Three objectives, enumerated in points "a - d" in the fourth paragraph of the Declaration. [2 groups unrecovered] assume that the word "measures" includes the establishment of an appropriate organization along the lines, for example of the Polish Commission.

4. The second and wider interpretation is that the words "Joint responsibilities" in the third from the last paragraph of the Declaration, should be taken to mean that no signatory government is permitted to take unilateral action-as regards matters mentioned in the Declaration, in any liberated European State or in any former Axis Satellite in Europe.

[Part II]

This interpretaion is supported by reference to "joint action" in the Preamble to require," which presumably presuppose general agreement before joint assistance.

[57 groups unrecoverable]

5. The first interpretation, set forth above, would naturally mean that any one government, according to the Declaration, could veto any action if it so desired. This interpretation of the Declaration would greatly impair the possibility of its use in situations such as that in ROUMANIA.

6. The second alternative interpretaion is the only one, which gives us the chance to use the Declaration to prevent arbitrary imposition of minority rule under Soviet encouragement in countries occupied by Russian troops.

7. Any [1 group unrecovered] arising from this interpretation can arouse serious objection. Insisting on such an interpretation we run the risk of a head-on collision with the Russians who certainly will refuse to accept any such restriction of their freedom of action.

8. Since the U.S. Government is the author of the Declaration about liberated Europe, I [1 group unrecovered], without preliminary consultation and agreement with them, [4 groups unrecovered] any definite view about the proper interpretation.

questions, although there are some major differences of tactics. This morning a member of my department discussed this question at some length in the State Department. Set forth below on this question and considers it essential to get a clear definition of the basis on which the Commission is to work. The relevant paragraph of the Crimea communique should be taken for the definition of the functions of the Commission. It is essential that all three parties to the Commission constantly [2 groups unrecovered] purpose for which it was set up, namely: "to consult with members of the present provisional government and with other Polish democratic leaders from Poland and from abroad with a view to reorganizing the present government on a broader democratic basis, with inclusion of democratic leaders from Poland and from Poles abroad."

[46 groups unrecoverable]

3. Invitations to Poles.

The Commission must itself agree on lists of Poles who are to be invited for consultation. One cannot allow any outside organization to influence the composition of this list.

4. It is necessary to achieve a moratorium on political persecution in Poland. All Poles should now act in such a way as to create an atmosphere of freedom and independence, since only under such circumstances can [2 groups unrecovered] a representative government or conduct free elections. (In this connection the State Department feels that the test of the draft note to MOLOTOV, set out in your telegram No.2078, is too sharp and shows too great a distrust of Soviet intentions in POLAND; they entirely agree with those objectives which you set, but feel that we will gain nothing if we are too harsh at this stage; they are considering now the possibility of issuing instructions to HARRIMAN - to make a demarch on similar lines, but somewhat softened down in tone; at the present time, in their opinion, it is inadvisable to face MOLOTOV with a combined note on this subject).

5. Observers.

The State Department learned with gratification that you for the moment do not intend to go ahead with your idea of sending

[12 groups unrecoverable]

Sir A. Clark KERR to press for full facilities for sending to POLAND a somewhat lower level technical commission. The aim of this commission will be to gather first-hand information about conditions now pertaining there in so far as they affect the question of appointing a government and the later elections. [Part I] To the 8th Department. Information from "REJDER"[i]. As a result of observations on the job in his agency and participation in various official conferences REJDER has told our man about some changes in the mutual relations between the civilian and military agencies.

1. In December and January, when various war industries were sharply increased the "DEPO"[ii] and the War Manpower Commission gave them strong support. BYRNES[iii], director of War Mobilization, issued various directives curtailing civilian production. The DEPO sharply curtailed programs that had been approved by its branches locally permitting the output of small quantities of products for civilian requirements in small plants, reduced the civilian programs for [2 groups unrecovered] railroad equipment, decreased the allotment of materials to non-military programs, and so forth. The War Manpower Commission tightened the limitation on manpower utilization and forced certain transfers of workers for carrying out special programs for filling military orders. The military departments during this time not only increased their orders for war materials, but also sharply increased the programs for articles of civilian need, namely [2 groups unrecovered], screen cloth, textiles.

2. In recent weeks a marked shift in the conduct of civilian organization has been noted. The DEPO, [3 groups unrecovered] [B% carried out by] the War Manpower Commission, now maintain that the military departments are placing unjustifiedly large orders, particularly for non-combat items, which are also needed for the civilian economy, [B% that] the production of a minimum quantity of goods for civilians must be permitted [1 group unrecovered] manpower which the military really don't need, which could be indirectly used in the war, that the military should be limited to a certain extent in their procurements. The military departments, on the other hand, have not retreated from their position of resistance to any production or activity for which they actually do not feel a direct need.

[Part II] 3. Perhaps the most striking expression of this new line of the DEPO's was a statement made by Hiland BATCHELLER[iv], Deputy Chairman of the DEPO (at that time Acting Chairman, as KRUG [v] was then absent), at a meeting of the Production Executive

Committee on 12 March. From information received from a leading person who was present at the meeting it is known that BATCHELLER stated fairly openly

[Part III] [3 groups unrecovered + 273 not yet available]
[150 groups not yet available + 5 unrecovered]

at Philadelphia. It is also hard to believe that this position is connected in any way with the movement among reactionary congressmen to restrict [B% export] [one group unrecovered]

is (are) not directed against war production, but in many respects amount(s) to support of it, especially in cases where a firm stand by the military may impede production. On the other hand, in the conduct of the heads of the military departments it has been possible for a long time to see traces of political pressure exerted on them. For example, the proposal to build an additional airport at NEW YORK in order to relieve the growing pressure of military and ordinary civilian air transport on the overloaded main field has been shelved and [one word unrecovered] by the military departments. Mayor LA GUARDIA[vi] and others have visited WASHINGTON and written sharp letters of protest to KRUG. On 15 March this question was under discussion in the production review committee [vii], where the vote was 9 to 5 on construction of the airport. The 5 votes cast against it were those of the military members. They made a protest against this decision in the Production Executive Committee, which [5 groups unrecovered] would support the opinion of the production review committee[vii].

"According to an article by L. VOLODARSKIJ of VOLODARSKIJ does not give any more specific details or a more precise determination of this estimate. [8 groups unrecovered] figure of 250 milliard gold roubles (roughly about 50 milliard dollars).

The fact that the Russians' estimate of their war losses will of course be astronomical (see Embassy telegram number 1230 of 18 April 1945), is merely confirmed by the figure of 100 milliard dollars quoted above. It is very likely that the total national wealth of the Soviet Union in the pre-war period was valued at a sum less than the 100 milliard dollars indicated in this article as being the losses in the Ukraine alone."

continuation of telegram no. 803. If it is the last continuation, we should expect it to be called "the conclusion of telegram no. 803," but the same effect could be obtained by ending it with "The end" (the end of this part and the following messages are unrecoverable.) ---No. 3618, included in previous translations involving 3617, 3619, and 3620, has been judged to be a different telegram, the encipherment of which interrupted the encipherment of the present telegram.

To the 8th Department. Material from "RUBLE." [i] I am transmitting the contents of a telegram from a representative of the "BANK" [ii] in Helsinki telegram
#265 of 29 May addressed to the "BANK":

"The following communication was sent: to London under number 16, to Berne under number 2 and to Stockholm under number 73.

According to information, received from a source of uncertain reliability, two Germans - WILLI DAUGS (a known agent) and OTTO ENRICH, protected their assets in Finland, by a bogus transfer in November 1944, of about one million dollars, to an American living in Zurich E.V. DWIGHT (WIGHT?), Jr.
DWIGHT (WIGHT) until 1941 worked for Henry MANN, formerly living in Berlin but now is in New York, at 64 Wall Street.
ENRICH and DAUGS, [C% it was confirmed], were owners of the firms ERGOSSCO and GIKKAKOSKI [sic], makers of machine guns.
The firm TIKKAKOSKI is on the Proclaimed List. DAUGS and ENRICH since the first half of 1944 have been living in Stockholm and at the present are wanted by the Finnish police for smuggling securities out of Finland.

It is reported that the Finnish embassy in Washington has the sum of 323 thousand American dollars, kept in the dossier on Suomi machine guns. This money was placed there for TIKKAKOSKI by Irjosaa STAMOINEN, who visited the U.S.A.
in 1940 on a diplomatic visa, as a minister on a special mission. The money was to finance the production of Suomi machine guns in the U.S.A., however the project was not accomplished. Inasmuch as DAUGS cannot use this money himself, he transferred his rights to it to DWIGHT (WIGHT).
Under an agreement between DWIGHT (WIGHT) and ERGO of 24
November 1944, based on Judgments of the Magistrates Court letters number 145 and 146, the "Bank of Finland" apparently told GATES to pay on 30 June 210 thousand American dollars in Argentine currency in Buenos Aires or in Brazilian Currency in Rio. Under armistice agreements Finland undertook not to permit export of German property, without preliminary consent of the Allied Control Commission, but if steps are not taken immediately, the above indicated sum will be exported as property of an American citizen. An unofficial memorandum was delivered to the Foreign Office with the request for an investigation and suspension of action until [4 groups unrecovered]
