

December 7, 2010

Dear Colleague:

The Latin American Program is pleased to invite you for a discussion of:

Honduras and the Inter-American System: One Year After

Monday, December 13, 2010

9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars
1300 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
5th floor conference room

Jorge Ramón Hernández Alcerro, Ambassador of Honduras to the United States
Leticia Salomón, Research Associate, Centro de Documentación de Honduras
José Miguel Insulza, Secretary General, Organization of American States
Eduardo Stein, Coordinator, Honduran Truth and Reconciliation Commission
Facundo Nejamkis, Professor, University of Buenos Aires
Julissa Reynoso, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Central America and the Caribbean,
Department of State

One year after the celebration of internationally-monitored elections, the international community remains divided over the legitimacy of the 2009 presidential elections and recognition of the Porfirio Lobo government. Important issues remain in debate, including the implementation of the San José Accord; the work of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission amid widespread allegations of human rights violations; and the fate of former President Manuel Zelaya, exiled in the Dominican Republic. Honduras remains politically polarized, and its international isolation further complicates the country's ability to tackle its formidable economic and social challenges.

We hope you can join us for this important discussion. Please RSVP, acceptances only, by clicking here.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'Cynthia J. Arnson'.

Cynthia J. Arnson
Director
Latin American Program

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'José Raúl Perales'.

José Raúl Perales
Senior Program Associate
Latin American Program