

An Invitation

The Canada Institute of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Maclean's and Canadian Business Magazines

invite you to a panel discussion on

Buy American / Buy Canadian: The New Protectionism?

The twelfth in the Canada Institute's One Issue, Two Voices series featuring leading international public policy experts

Robert Baugh

Executive Director of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Council and

William Robson

President and CEO of the C.D. Howe Institute

Drawing on expertise from both sides of the Canada-U.S. border, the One Issue, Two Voices series is designed to stimulate dialogue on policy issues that have a significant impact on the bilateral relationship. This publication examines Buy America from political, economic, and legal points of view, focusing on the implications of protectionism for the future prosperity of both countries.

Panelists Robert Baugh and William Robson will discuss the charges of protectionism triggered by Buy America and debate their contrasting approaches to promoting economic growth and job creation during hard times. Glen Hodgson, chief economist at the Conference Board of Canada, will act as moderator. This presentation will be particularly relevant to economists, government policy analysts, members of the academic, business, and legal communities, and others interested in the trade, productivity, and economic relationship between Canada and the United States.
